Christian Institute: Abortion Survey – May 08

METHODOLOGY NOTE:

ComRes interviewed 1014 GB adults by telephone between 2nd and 4th May 2008. Data were weighted to be representative demographically of all GB adults.

ComRes is a member of the British Polling Council and abides by its rules.

Guidelines for the public use of survey results

ComRes is a member of the British Polling Council and abides by its rules (www.britishpollingcouncil.org). This commits us to the highest standards of transparency.

The BPC's rules state that all data and research findings made on the basis of surveys conducted by member organisations that enter the public domain, must include reference to the following:

- The company conducting the research (ComRes)
- The client commissioning the survey
- Dates of interviewing
- Method of obtaining the interviews (e.g. in-person, post, telephone, internet)
- The universe effectively represented (all adults, voters etc)
- The percentages upon which conclusions are based
- Size of the sample and geographic coverage.

Published references (such as a press release) should also show a web address where full data tables may be viewed, and they should also show the complete wording of questions upon which any data that has entered the public domain are based.

ComRes can provide a BPC-compliant methodology statement upon request.

All press releases or other publications must be checked with ComRes before use. ComRes requires 48 hours to check a press release unless otherwise agreed.

HEADLINES:

- 58% of people think that the abortion time limit should be reduced from 24 weeks or banned in Britain in order to be more in line with other EU countries.
- This figure is noticeably higher among women, 73% of whom think that the abortion limit should be reduced or banned and 41% of women think that the limit should be reduced to 12 weeks or less, which is the most common limit in EU countries.
